OXON RUN CREEK RESTORATION

Nearly a dozen Hillcrest residents attended a presentation on the stream restoration project of Oxon Run Creek on Monday May 15 at the Francis Gregory Library. Josh Burch, an Environmental Specialist with the DC Department of Energy and Environment, was the presenter.

This plan comes on the heels of a similar project in Alger Park that was completed last year under the direction of the same DC Department. A similar endeavor in Hillcrest, at the northern foot of 32nd St., SE had been done previously through the Federal Government and the National Park Service.

This latest proposal concentrates on the portion of Oxon Run Creek bounded by Branch Ave., Erie St., and Southern Ave. lying entirely in Hillcrest. Oxon Run Creek is not in the Anacostia River watershed and eventually feeds into the Potomac River.

Members of the Hillcrest Community Civic Association will remember that this plot of land is the site of the Hillcrest Christmas Tree which is decorated by our organization every year. The tree lies on the one corner of the designated area which is approachable by pedestrians. The rest of the targeted area is so thick with overgrowth and undergrowth that most motorists passing by never give it a second glance.

Ms. Stephanie Early Abney, who lives on Erie St. adjacent to the proposed project, has described a deep ravine hidden from view which is easily twenty feet deep. She stated that several deer frequent the spot. They sometimes make their way up to the front yards of the houses on Erie St. and feed on flowers and other vegetation.

Among the goals for the creek restoration work are: decreasing the volume and velocity of storm water being discharged into the park, reducing erosion, and creating a walking trail for the park.

Hillcrest neighbors at the May 15 meeting expressed numerous concerns including the inevitable loss of some trees, the presence of heavy construction equipment, and the temporary disruption of traffic.

The anticipated timeline for this work includes a closing date for bids on design and construction by April 30, 2018, of which the date has already passed and the awarding of the construction contract around August or September of 2018. Sometime this fall or winter, there will be more community meetings, site surveys and design, and the securing of the many permits which the law requires. The permits can be time consuming, but the hope is that actual construction can take place between next spring and fall (2019).

ABRA RELEASES SAFEWAY LIQUOR LICENSE CHALLENGE REPORT

The D.C. Alcoholic Beverage Regulation Administration (ABRA) released its report on the March 7, 2018 "protest" hearing on the challenge made by 15 Hillcrest "protestors" to Safeway-Alabama Avenue's liquor license. In the report, ABRA said that Safeway's renewal is contingent on compliance with two additional terms.

In the report and hearing, the ABRA also specifically stated Safeway must continue to comply with the 2003 agreement (with the Hillcrest Community Civic Association and ANC7B) and that Safeway remains in violation with the agreement each time they sell an alcoholic beverage and NOT place the beverage in a translucent bag and place only alcoholic beverages in the bag.

The ABRA recently fined Economy Market $600 for not "maintain(ing) clear plastic bags to use for alcoholic beverage purchases," as stated in Economy Market agreement.

For Safeway to rid the agreement of the baggage provision, it must renegotiate with the original parties, the Hillcrest Community Civic Association and ANC7B.

The community must decide whether to take the possible opportunity of exchanging the rescinding of the bag provision for something meaningful to the community, and help Safeway to be a good neighbor consistently.

The "protestors" will continue to post information on Nextdoor.com, the HillcrestDC yahoo group and at presentations at the ANC7B and HCCA meetings.
